Big Horn County Stance On: Variances to Wyoming State Public Health Orders

Big Horn County will follow the Governor's Statewide Public Health orders as they are released. The county intends to remain centric on the Governor's policies.

This is a template to help prepare your business for the future as we move forward in our economic recovery phase of this COVID-19 response emergency. This is only a template and not an exhaustive list of necessary components. Additional requirements may be necessary as Big Horn County Plans are developed and State guidance and/or Public Health Orders are revised. Nothing in this template gives any individual or business the authority to act outside the scope of the current Statewide Public Health Orders.

The County does not waive sovereign immunity by publication of this transition plan, and specifically retains immunity and all defenses available to them as a sovereign pursuant to relevant Wyoming Statute and all other state law.

The most current versions of the State of Wyoming Public Health Orders:

After review of current orders, if you feel that a variance for your business is appropriate, you may submit a written plan for this request. A written variance for Big Horn County must be approved by the Incident Management Team including the County Health Officer, as well as the State Health Officer and the Office of the Attorney General; this is the only variance that is valid and enforceable. All other forms of written or verbal authority that have not been approved through this process are not valid or enforceable. Submission requirements and instructions are included in the plan components on pages 3-5.

	For Building:
	Change or alter ingress and egress methods. Separate incoming from outgoing. Try to achieve the 6-foot distance for travel flow in the building. Use floor signs to control direction and spacing.
	Change seating in lunch and break rooms if needed. Remove tables and chairs as needed to reduce the number of potential seating opportunities.
	Consider plexiglass shields at check outs or registers to separate staff from patrons.
	Adapt receiving procedures to minimize contact with vendors or delivery services. Arrange product storage/warehousing to reduce staff crowding when dealing with inventory.
	For Staff:
	Check in procedures. Avoid having multiple people attempting to check in or use time clock at same time.
	Adjust schedules. Change lunch and break times to minimize number of employees in lunch or break room at one time. Maintain the less than 10 people rule with the 6-foot distancing.
	Train staff in disinfection including proper cleaning of registers, counter tops, drinking fountains, phones, touch pads, and other common touch areas with doorknobs and handrails cleaned several times per shift. Social distancing best practices as well as proper mask use should be required.
	For Patrons:
	Plan for how you will provide services to/for the vulnerable population at high risk.
	Screening: Personal service locations, such as schools, gyms, or recreation facilities should plan to provide screening of patrons for health concerns.
